

Service & Support

CimCore portable measuring arms are locally supported worldwide by a network of independent distributors, who manage hardware and software training, technical support and applications services.